Now we have a methodically reliable and painstakingly accurate analysis of all pertinent material, with as complete a corpus of pottery forms as possible. There are several hundred drawings of pottery and lamps, all accurate and elegant, with no waste of space, but no over-crowding of drawings or letter-press. The volume is a "must" for all serious students.

Owing to the prohibitive cost of printing in this country and the tightness of the ASOR budget, Dr. Lapp volunteered to have it printed at his own expense in Jordan. The Schools have taken it over and hope to sell a sufficient number of copies to reimburse Dr. Lapp. It is, therefore, not possible to allow a discount on the list price ($7.00 postpaid) or to distribute free copies, as in the case of our other publications.

The first volume of the same series, Wright's invaluable dissertation, The Pottery of Palestine from the Earliest Times to the End of the Early Bronze Age (1937), was also published by the ASOR at the author's expense. Too few copies were printed and, despite its formidable title, it was exhausted within two years and has been unavailable for more than twenty years. Now it is available again, after being reprinted in a form more attractive than the original offset. It must, however, be ordered from the publishers: University Microfilms, Inc., 313 First Street, Ann Arbor, Michigan (number: OP 10,394; price $4.35 paper-bound, $6.60 hard-backed, plus shipping and handling costs); it should not be ordered from the ASOR.

This was the first critical synthesis of pottery sequence dating between cir. 3600 and 2000 B.C., and still retains most of its value. While adjustments have had to be made at various points as a result of subsequent discoveries, the broad picture remains correct, and nearly all attempts to change the picture have boomeranged.
